Alliance announces new partnership with Symmetry Resource Group

Providing Turn-Key Migration Solutions for Oracle R12 Applications

Hanover, Maryland – August 29, 2011: Alliance Technology Group, a leading Systems Integrator and IT Solutions company specializing in IT infrastructure, cloud computing and professional services for the public and private sectors, today announced a partnership with Symmetry Resource Group. Together their teams will provide a turn-key Oracle R12 migration solutions for enterprise and mid-market companies.

“One of the biggest challenges of an R12 upgrade is getting the hardware and software requirements correct and having the expertise for both” said Octavio Perales, Managing Partner of Symmetry Resource Group. “Traditional infrastructure providers lack a thorough understanding of R12 hardware and software prerequisites and as a result, customers wind up wasting money on the wrong configuration,” added Perales.

Under the partnership, Symmetry Resources Group and Alliance Technology Group provide a comprehensive program of healthcheck services; hardware and software assessment and requirements gathering; equipment and software installation and turn-up; project management services; and staffing services for both temporary and permanent resources. The services will leverage SRG’s expertise in Oracle-related services and Alliance Technology Group’s deep IT infrastructure knowledge.

“No similar firm can match the experience and capability this partnership brings to the table,” said Kris Queen, Director of Technology for the mid-west division of Alliance Technology Group, based in Chicago. “With Symmetry Resource Group, we know that customers will get the right configuration from the start, avoiding costly configuration and sizing errors,” explained Queen.

The principals of Symmetry Resource Group have 40+ years combined expertise in managing Oracle implementations, and are known for their capability to help its clients build the teams required for Oracle software projects.
