Alliance Appoints New Director of Technology for Northeast Division

Fast Growing Technology Advisor Strengthens Resources

Wayne, PA – November 7, 2011: Alliance Technology Group, a leading Systems Integrator and IT Solutions company specializing in IT infrastructure, cloud computing and professional services for the public and private sectors, today announced the appointment of Mark Wood, as their Director of Technology for the Northeast Division. Mark will help Alliance further develop their growing portfolio of regional and national accounts.

Mark joins Alliance as Director of Technology for their the Northeast Division to continue Alliance's years of success providing technology and business solutions to large and small companies in America. "I am excited to contribute to the continued growth of Alliance, specifically in the Northeast, and their Cloud, Security, Consulting and Data Center Services Divisions", explained Mark Wood. "Alliance has a strong and extensive team of specialists and I am fortunate to be joining a respected company that prides itself on top quality service," added Wood.

Prior to joining Alliance, Mark spent the last twelve years at Highmark, Inc., Pennsylvania's largest health insurer, where Mark served in various capacities including Director, Data Center Infrastructure and Data Center Operations. Mark also served as the IT lead for the construction, design, and relocation project for Highmark's state of the art Tier III and LEED certified data center.

"Mark's wealth of experience and industry knowledge make him a key addition to Alliance's Northeast Division," stated Fred Hunter, Vice President of Sales for the Northeast Division. "As a leading provider of Cloud Computing, Data Management and Data Center Solutions in the industry Mark will be instrumental in providing our clients with highly reliable, scalable and affordable solutions that will strengthen our client base in the region. We're excited about this great addition to our team," added Hunter.
